

Table of contents

Ulf Engel, Frank Hadler, and Matthias Middell Introduction	7
Matthias Middell 1989 as a Global Moment: Some Introductory Remarks	33
Ivan T. Berend Global Financial Architecture and East Central Europe before and after 1989	49
Frank Hadler The Polish 1989: The First Break in the Wall after a Decade of Struggle for the State of Solidarity	63
László Borhi Domestic Change, International Transformation: Hungary's Role in Ending the Bipolar System in 1989	81
Oldřich Tůma External Factors Influencing the Fall of the Communist Regime in Czechoslovakia	119
Konrad H. Jarausch The Peaceful Revolution as Transnational Process: Global Dimensions of the Fall of the Wall	129
Mihai Manea 1989 in Romania: A Violent Popular Oust – Some Certainties and Uncertainties	145
Irina Morozova The Year 1989: Southern “Peripheries” of the Soviet Union at the Time of Perestroika	151
Christoph Boyer Big “1989”, Small “1989”: A Comparative View on Eastern Central Europe and China on their Way into Globalization	177

Birte C. Herrmann “Battle Cries of US Democracy” on Tian’anmen Square? US Media and the Chinese Movement of 1989	205
Charles K. Armstrong 1989 and the Korean Peninsula	231
Michael Mann India 1989: Overcoming the Post-Colonial State	259
Erin K. Wilson “Good International Citizen” or “Nation Under Threat”? 1989 and the Politics of Identity in Australia	297
Ulf Engel Africa’s “1989”	331
Chris Saunders “1989” and Southern Africa	349
David Simo Africa and the Turning Point of 1989	363
Klaas Dykmann Global 1989 and El Salvador	375
Heidrun Zinecker Where 1989 Didn’t Happen: The Case of Colombia	397
Bruce Mazlish Global Importance of 1989	419
Bibliography	429
Index	457
List of Authors	461